RECESSIONAL

CELEBRATING TODAY'S GRADUATES, TOMORROW'S CHANGEMAKERS

Dear Graduates, Family and Friends,

As we gather to celebrate the College of Information Science Spring 2026 Convocation, I am filled with immense pride and optimism. Today, we honor not just the academic achievements of our graduates but also their resilience and dedication. You, our graduates, have pursued a wide range of academic pathways—each with its own depth, rigor and purpose—and you have done so with remarkable acumen and curiosity.

At the College of Information Science, which now brings together the several academic programs of the former College of Applied Science and Technology and University of Arizona South, we believe in the transformative power of knowledge and the critical role of information in shaping our future. Across your various fields of study, you have learned to harness that power effectively and ethically. You have built the skills needed to thrive in environments that are continually evolving and increasingly interconnected. Just as importantly, you have cultivated a mindset grounded in continuous learning, critical thinking and innovative problem-solving.

As you step forward from today, you carry more than a degree from the University of Arizona. You carry a responsibility to use what you have learned to make a positive impact in the world. Whether your journey leads you into technology, public service, education, leadership, creative industries, government or the nonprofit sector, your work will influence how information is preserved, strengthened, managed, secured and shared. Remember, the future is not something we enter but something we create. Your education has equipped you to help build that future with integrity and vision.

To the families and friends who have supported our graduates, your role in their journey cannot be overstated. Your encouragement and belief in their potential have been crucial to their successes. On behalf of the faculty and staff, I extend to you our heartfelt gratitude.

Graduates, as you celebrate this milestone, know that your journey is just beginning. The challenges of tomorrow will require your intellect, empathy and courage. I am confident that you will rise to meet them with the same determination and passion that you have shown during your time with us.

Congratulations to the Spring 2026 graduates of the College of Information Science at the University of Arizona! We look forward to seeing the paths you will forge and the marks you will make on the world as alumni and as changemakers.

Warm regards,

Catherine F. Brooks
Interim Dean and Professor
College of Information Science
